

Response 02

Hi Eric – I am 100% in favor of the proposed research project. We have limited knowledge of how freshwater transfers from glaciers to rivers, and critically, how sediment fluxes will respond to these changes as glaciers melt. The research will be important to management of fish that depend critically on seasonality of flows and specific sedimentary characteristics in order to spawn.

Cheers, Dan

--

Dan Shugar, PhD
Assistant Professor of Geoscience
University of Washington Tacoma, WA, USA twitter: @waterSHEDlab
faculty.washington.edu/dshugar (geoscience) danshugar.com (photography)